Plans All Upset.

The Italian delegation is in a hurry-can't leave it to the league—and on hearing that a preliminary treaty of peace is heing drafted for German signature, argost that she will not consent until the treaty with Austral and will be for German signature, argost that she will not consent until the treaty with Austral and will be for for German signature, argost that she will not consent until the treaty with Austral and will be for following. "Consent until the treaty with Austral and will be for following." Consent until the treaty with Austral and Austral and the peace conference must make a just peace or invite anarchy.

When so influential and conspicuous a writer as J. L. Garvin, says in the Landon Observer that without a league there will be 'no peace for long' it is proof that the British realize the dangers of a hastily made peace treaty satisfying the ambittons of politicians and growing the wishes of peoples. He adds "without some new principle of assessiation between peoples the settlement as projected would not last five years.

Germany in 1871 was punished in 1918, so surely will vindicative abuse of victory recoil at some future day upon the head of France. No political lunatic is now so distempered as to suppose that Germany can pay the whole cost of the war or for that purpose can be kept in a state of tribute and serfdom for lifty and a hundred years. What Mr. Garvin seems to say represents the viewpoint of the United States government so far as it can be learned here. It is one-thing for the delegates in Paris to write terms of a treaty for signature before a league of mations is created and it is quite another to get the United States to put its name beneath territorial settlements which it firmly believes will keep the peace of Europe unsettled as did the wrestling of Alsace-Lorraine from France in 1871.

The upshot of it all will undoubledly be a definite statement somer or later from Freedent Wilson that unless the character of the settlements are just and provision is made for the guarantee of these settlements by an association of powers, there can be no adherence on the part of the American delegation. Territorial settlements are the basis of the trouble in Faris with political ambitions of individuals on the one side and a true appreciation of the chaos in Europe on the other. Which of he two will win? When that question is answered a real start will be made toward an early peace in Europe.

Florida, Alahama, Mississippi and Tennessee and Virginia cities, or were slightly less by the amount of fixed differentials. Existing rates, it was alleged, are unduly discriminatory and prejudicial so that the North Carolina cities are 'unjustly restricted in their business, the commercial interests of the state are unjustly injured and the growth and development of the state have been seriously retarded."

CANDY COSTLY IN PARIS IS FAVORITE OF FOODS

PARIS, March 25.—One of the features of the peace conference is the queue which forms daily in the corridor of the hotel which shelters the American delegates to buy candy from the canteen established by the American government to supply cigars, eigarets, candy and chewing gum to the hundreds of specialists and other government employes quartered there.

Candy is so scarce and so expensive in Paris that it is the favorite article on sale in all American army, Red Cross and Young Men's Christian association canteens. The allowance given to each canteen daily is small. Consequently, the men with a sweet tooth watch eagerly for the arrival of the daily supply and struggle for advanced positions in the line, which always contains more buyers than there are packages of candy. #### GRAIN MARKETS

Corn Is Irregular, Partly Because of Predictions of Lower Food Prices.

CHICAGO, March 25—Traders in corn gave most of their attention today to statements from government sources that there was reason to expect lower food prices in the near future. Opening figures, which ranged from ½c to 1½c lower, with May $1.6 to $1.46% and July $1.37½ to $1.38, were followed by an upturn that in some cases reached above yesterday's finish, but the market soon sagged again and went lower than before.

Subsequently, covering by shorts lifted May to the highest point yet this season and strengthened the market as a whole. The close was unsettled ½c to $1.48% and July $1.38½ to $1.38%.

Cats weakened with corn. After opening ½c to 1½c down, with May $7.1½c to $7.5c, the market underwent a slight further setback.

Lower quotations on hogs put packing house products on the down grade.

Packers bought on the decline and forced something of a relaction.

HANDLE EXPLOSIVES

Recent publications of information from Washington regarding the handdling of explosives was misleading, according to A. H. Johnson, local representative of the bureau of explosives in Memphis. These publications led many to believe that all regulations regarding the handling and use of explosives since the armistice was signed had been suspended. This is erroneous, according to Johnson, who has written the bureau for specific information.

Licenses are required for all purposes save agricultural work, such as the use of explosives to reclaim land, ditching, blowing stumps and subsoiling. Contractors and levee builders and all other persons except farmers are required to have licenses, as are vendors or dealers in explosives. Alien enemies are not licensed at all and are not permitted to handle or use evinesives
